Third Annual Convention and Exhibition of the American Association. Large met in annual convention this morning at 10 o'clock, in the Park theater. Extensive prepa o'clock, in the Park theater. Extensive preparations have been made by the local comminities and the opening session began with a flattering attendance. About 560 delegates are now present and at least 190 more will come. The following states were represented, and delegates therefrom assigned space in the parquette and family circle: Georgia, Florida, West Virginia, Tennessee, Rhode Island, Virginia, Alama, Texas, South Carolina, Kansas, Michigan, California, Minnesota, Mississippi, Arransas, Colorado, Illinois, Connectucut, Louisiana, Maine, Iowa, Ohio, New Jersey, Indiana, New York, Missouri, Vermont, Delaware, Massachusetta, New Hampshire, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Wiccensin, North Carolina and Nebraska, besides representatives from Canada. Wiscensin, North Carolina and Nebraska, besides representatives from Canada.

The association was called to order by Joshua Smith, of Chicago, president. A few introductory words of welcome were made by John Cadwallader, secretary, who turned over the formal welcome address to Gov. Porter, whose appearance was greeted by "three cheers." Gov. Porter traced the history, briefly, of photography: discussed the wonderful improvements of later years, by which the flight of a bird, the strating of a borse in the race course, or the smile of a years, by which the flight of a bird, the straining of a horse in the race course, or the smile of a child may be caught and preserved for thousands of years; and showed the inestimable value the art has been to the scientific pursuits. He described a new photographic gun, which, when yu pull the trigger, is more effective in the breach than in the muzzle. The value of photography in legal trials was set for the governor's personal experience. More than one hundred thousand men are employed in this country in the photographer's business. The governor closed by wishing a happy session and one of value to the association, and to all science. Fr sident Smith, is the name of photography at d behalf of the attending members, returned thanks for the governor's welcome words.

scretche. It such contains the trained of the processing members, returned thanks for the governor's welcome words.

Business was proceeded with immediately following the address. The roll call was postponed one day and the reading of the minutes of the last session was dispensed with. J. T. Taylor, of New York, editor of the Photographic Times, and a distinguished practical photographer himself, read, as chairman of the committee on the progress of protographic art, an elaborate paper detailing many improvements perfected recently, chiefly in the use of gelatine dry plates, instead of collodion or wet plates. Mr. Taylor, in his extremely interesting address, illustrated the value of late improvements by narrating how exposures were made from a balloon in spiral as well as forward movement, with a bromide gelatine plate the church spires and maste of ships were distinctly outlined. The president appointed the following committee on nomination of officers and location of next convention: Alfred Hall, Chicago; E. R. Curtis, Madison, Wisconsiu; B. Bingham, Memphis; W. A. Potter, Indianapolis; Irwin Launders, Alfrew Center, N. Y., and James Landry, Cincinnati. By motion a committee of three, Messrs. Clark, Schlier and Reed, was appointed to prepare amendments to the constitution. President Smith read his annual address. He Messrs. Clark, Schiller and Reed, was appointed to prepare amendments to the constitution. President Smith read his annual address. He said that during the year the association has unfered much from "Cheap Johns," and more remunerative prices were demanded. He revarded Indianopolis as free from this disease of cheap work. In closing he bespoke a good word for the harmony and hard work of the present session.

The exhibit in Masonic hall is noteworthy. Any quantity of interesting and new apparatus may be found there. The Photo Chemical Printing company makes a fine display. Amateur photagraphy is represented, and instruments are shown wherewith the uninitiated may take pictures with ease and accuracy. Plaque portraits from Recher's studio, Chicago, and all sorts of pictures, from artists far and hear, are shown in infinite variety. H. Leiber, of this city, makes a fine display of supplies and patent plants made of paper mache. Hiram Thompson, J. C. Somerville, and others equally prominent, show general supplies, accessories and apparatus of interest to the photographers. T. H. McCollin exhibits some fine pictures taken by the electric light process. An erroneous impression prevalls with regard to these pictures. The sittings are made in natural light and the enlargement is made by the platinum process under electric light.

Lenses from French & Co., Boston: chemicals from the Mallinckrodt works, St. Lonia, cameras of the Gem City pattern and other styles, and a perfect gallery of fine pictures are to be seen at the hall.

THE prohibition-submission business, or the submission-prohibition business ought not to be so absorbing as to cause the republicans in convention to-morrow to forget to say something about civil service re-

ADMIRAL NICHOLSON'S report of his proceedings at Alexandria shows every thing to have been meet and proper and is cold comfort to that excitable class who ciy, "Fee, faw, fum, I smell the blood of an Englishman," every time anything occurs between England and the United States that isn't tinctured with dynamite.

It is to be hoped the republicans in convention to-morrow will not be led to resolve that Robert Dale Owen's "Footfalls on the Boundaries of Another World" shall be adopted as the constitution of the state of Indiana in place of the present instrument. There seems to be a "boom" and violent "dead set" for R. Dale Owen in some republican quarters this morning.

The Parnell Branch Irish Land League, of Philadelphia, has unanimously voted to send Arabi Bey the Parnell branch's share of the proceeds of the excursion under the auspices of the Philadelphie league, on September 3. All other branches are recommended to follow the example. To liberate Ireland by way of Egypt, with Arabi Bey as grand custodian of the funds raised by Irish girls and men in America, is certainly a piece of Irish strategy. But the difficulty which suggested itself to the rate in the fable which resolved to bell the cat, seems to arise here. Whe will carry the funds to Arabi?

IMMIGRATION statistics for the year ending June 30, just published by the treasury tment, show the total arrivals at 816,027. Of these it is a fair calculation to say that the males capable of bearing arms about equal the standing army of Germany, or say 400,000. Compared with the previous year there was an increase of 119,572. No other year reached 500,000. Germany contributed the largest quota, 249,505, being an increase of 39,020 over the previous year. Next came Canada, 98,308, a decrease of 27,083. Next, England, 85,175, an increase of 18,971. Ireland, 6.432, the small increase of 4.090. Sweden, 49,760, being 14,847 over the previous year. China, 39,579, the remarkable increase of 27,689. The month of June itself however, shows a slacking of the inflow. The total was 84,786, against 95,535 in 1881. This total includes 4,835 Russians and 4,333 Chinese.

THE under foreign secretary made the ather significant announcement in the Commons, yesterday, that

The conference will have no control over England's action at Suez, or at other points where British troops are in occupation by virtue of the khedive's proposal. The measures before the conference are enly proposals for the safety of the canal. Lord Dufferin has been instructed that, if an agreement is reached, it will be only a temporary one, incident to the present situation. The conference will have no control over

This seems to be as much as to say that England, having the khedive plastic in her hands, will make a figure-head of him as she does of her Indian rajahs; that the decrees of the conference as to the safety of the canal are to be only temporary, that is, during the time England is engaged in thrashing those Bedouin thieves. When she has concluded that matter she will doubtless restore the former face of things, set up the khedive, and under his direction "lend him aid" to take care of his dominions, including the Suez canal, the other powers being told to get out of that. This is a long look ahead, but the proposition is so much a parallel to the English procedure in India, that there ought to be nothing strange about the conclusion

To supply an omission we advert to the following from our esteemed contemporary,

The people are not bound to submit any reasons for their instructions to the legislature, or to have any other reasons than the simple desire to settle by their direct vote a long-standing controversy among

If the people may instruct the legislature to pass a law simply for the purpose of settling, by a direct vote, a long-standing controversy among themselves, why may they not instruct the legislature to pass a law simply for the purpose of testing the ability of a governor by getting his veto or approval of it; or why may they not instruct both legislature and executive to pass a law simply for the purpose of seeing what sort of stuff their supreme court is made of by getting its decision touching the validity of the law; or why may they not instruct the legislature to pass a law simply for the purpose of having an election over it and getting a lot of beer money in here from Milwaukee, or prohibition money from Iowa, and dividing it out among thboys? Something was once "telegraphed to the boys." The supreme court once everturned a constitutional amend ment, and in popular belief for the express nurpose of having an election. Why would it not be as easy to instruct a legislature for the same purpose. To cut loose from the constitution is to put government at sea, all sail and no anchor. To elects legislature or law making body with instructions that it law's merits, and for some other purpose than because the law is wanted, is to make that body the tool of a whim, and it may easily become the tool of corruption. It is to subvert the constitutional purpose of a legislature and to substitute for representative government i mass government and for government by constitution, government by clamor. It is stating a truth, self-evident, to say that the people alone can amend the constitution, acting as prescribed by that constitution. But it is stating something else, which, to say the least, is not self-evident to say that the relation of members of the general assembly to the passage of a law is different from their relation to "agreeing" to a constitutional amendment, So far as we know the only class of legislation to which the relation of the members of the general assembly is different from their relation to any other class, is bills for raising revenue. These can only originate in the house of representatives. "The vote on the passage of every bill or joint resolution shall be taken by yeas and nays." Constitution; art. 4, sec. 18. "Every act and joint resolution shall be plainly worded, avoiding, so far as possible, the use of technical terms." Art. 4, sec. 20. "A majority of the members elected to each bouse shall be necessary to pass each bill or joint resolution." Art. 4, sec. 25. (The italics are ours.)

Here it is plain that these are the same qualifications for the different kinds of acts and that the relations of the general assembly to both is the same. And now what is a constitutional amendment? Nothing more nor less than a "joint resolution." He who will turn to the volume of the acts of the regular and special sessions of the legislature for 1881, will find the four muchworried-over constitutional amendments, there given as "Joint resolutions of the general assembly of Indiana," This fact it seems to us, disposes at one stroke, of the allegation that "the constitution designs that amendments shall not be in the power of Ethe legislature." That was a theory of Robert Dale Owen's in a speech he made thirty and odd years ago, but we respectfully submit that the ttempt to govern the state of Indiana by a speech of Robert Dale Owen's instead of by the constitution won't do. Might just as well try to govern it by, the speech of Wm. H. English, the blasphemy of which is just now exciting the horror of those who are taking so kindly to R. D. Owen. The fact that an amendment to the constitution is a joint resolution of the legislature, it seems to us, also knocks

"submission" into smithereens. For the joint-resolutions to alter the process of their making. This is rigidly guarded by the constitution; and in the case of a jointresolution which proposes an amendment legislature has no power over its bills or to the constitution, this process is that it shall be agreed to by a majority of the members of both houses, and be then referred to the next legislature. It shall then be agreed to again in the same way, and then "it shall be the duty of the general assmbly to submit it to the people"-not "may be the option," but "shall be the duty."

Hence to us it seems above controversy that the question of "submission" can not possibly be involved. It is a simple process of the making of a joint resolution of the legislature enacting an amendment to the constitution by which it comes to the people to "ratify the same." Ratify what? The action of the legislature upon this joint resolution enacting an amendment to the constitution. To assume that the right of the people to vote for or against such ratification is something that is to be determined by them in a previous vote creating a legislature is to affirm that the people must first vote to create a body to tell them -the people, whether or not they may vote on something. Folly could not go further, in all kindness we say it. The question is simply, "Do the people want their legislature to agree to a joint resolution enacting a prohibitory amendment to the constitution?" That is the length and breadth of it? The people have to answer the question in the election of the next legislature, for by the constitution (R. D. Owen to the contrary notwithstanding) the legislature is compelled to have something to do with this amendment; and that some thing is to agree to it or reject it.

Cabinet Saunterings. Immediately upon the adjournment of congress, the president and his cabinet will enter upon a long-planned summer vacation trip. The president purposes to take a cruise in the United States steamer Tallapoesa. He will be accompanied by Secretary Chandler and, perhaps, other members of the cabinet. The secretary of the navy purposes to make an inspection of the northern and eastern navy yards and the presidential party will, probably visit Long Branch, Newport, Boston, New London and a number of seaside resorts London and a number of seaside resorts. Postmaster General Howe will go to Wisconsin; Secretary Lincoln will go to Rye Beach; secretary Folger will not be absent for any length of time during the summer, but will content himself with brief excursions northward; Attorney General Brewster will divide his time between Long Branch and Cape May; Secretary Frelinghuysen goes to Long Branch, and from there will go to Cape May.

Artemus Hale. Artemus Hale, the oldest ex-member of Artemus Hale, the oldest ex-member of congress, whose death was announced yesterday was born in Hinchenden, Worcester county, Mass., Dec. 20, 1783. He received the ordinary common school education, and until his 21st year pursued the calling of a farmer. He then became a teacher in Hingham, and in his spare time applied himself sedulously to the work of cultivating his faculties and acquiring the knowledge which enabled him afterward to become a successful man. After ten to become a successful man. After ten years spent as a teacher he became a rep-resentative in the legislature, and in 1833 and 1834 a state senator. In 1855 he was a member of the state constitutional conve tion, and from 1845 to 1849 a representative in congress from Massachusetts. In 1864 he was a presidential elector.

Political Matters.

General Butler will probably be the straight democratic nominee for governor of Massachusetts.

Meager returns at hand indicate that Kentucky went democratic, yesterday, by about 35,000 majority in a total vote of 165,000. The republicans made some gains. Alabama democrats yesterday elected their state ticket without much opposition. Very few republicans ran for the legislature.

Democratic senators from New York city met at Saratoga, yesterday, and resolved in favor of harmony.

A Successful Advisory Commission.

Shelbyville was startled last night by the cry of murder from a woman who was in a buggy with a man who was driving the buggy with a man who was driving the horse in a dead run. Quite a number were following under the lead of one man who, at various times, would fire his revolver at the occupants of the buggy. Upon investigation it was discovered that a patent medicine man, who has been selling his ware on the Public Square there for some time, started buggy riding with Mrs. Bob Melbian, but just as they got underway Melbian made his appearance and opened fire.

The telephone war waxes hot in Evansville, but it got a cooler last night. Over 200 subscribers ordered the telephone removed from their business houses. The company had begun a bitter warfare against subscribers, which terminated, last night, in the city council passing an ordinance repealing an ordinance granting the telephone the right of way through the streets and alleys, on September last, and directing the mayor to remove all poles, wires, lines and other property of the Telephone company on said streets, should any such remain on October 1.

July Crop Report.

The crop report of the bureau of statistics for July is published to-day. The delay was owing to the desire of the bureau to get accurate reports from the harvest fields. The total wheat acreage the state was 2,659,813, and the yield 47,132,048 bush-els. The wheat acreage last year was was 2,003,813, and the yield 47,132,048 bushels. The wheat screage last year was 3,210,547 and the yield 30,625,668 bushels. The oat acreage is 634,101 and the estimated yield will be 19,592,169 bushels. Last year the oatacreage was 580,279 and the yield 14,398,617. In 1880 the yield was only 10,541,959.* The bulletin states the season has not been favorable for the corn crop, and ten per cent of the acreage planted has been abandoned. The total acreage planted was 3,061,797, against 3,135,178 last year. The average condition of the corn crop Aug. 1 was 81 per cent. The other crops average well. The condition of timothy hay averages 115.8 per cent., and the acreage is 909,574, which is reported the largest yield ever produced in the state. The acreage of clover is 788,825, and the condition 97.7 per cent. The average condition of apples is 62.7 per cent., and peaches 61.5.

The bulletin states that the wheat yield and peaches 61.5.

The bulletin states that the wheat yield of Indiana is probably larger than that of any other state in the union, while the oat crop is by far the largest the state has ever known. The Court House Elevator, To the Editor of The Indianapolis News:

The Court House Elevator.

To the Editor of The Indianapolis News:

I read with profound interest a notice in The News of last Friday that the county commissioners were making an effort to have an elevator placed in the court house. If there is any one thing that the taxpayers of Marion want any more than any other one thing, it is an elevator in our court house. It is true that it will cost two or three thousand dollars to build it, and then to run it after it is built will add ten or twelve hundred dollars per annum, to our yearly taxes, but what of that, when we take into account the comfort it will afford us in riding up and down during our leisure hours? And besides there is a job in it, and what of that? Jobs are common, indeed, so much so that thay occur in many of our congressional and legislative appropriations, and if they are found in our higher legislative bodies why discountenance them in our county expenditures? I would, however, endorse the suggestion of a gentleman at my elbow, who says that, insumuch as it now costs $40,000 per annum to defray the current expenses of our court house, it might be the part of windom to defeat this matter until after the November election, for it may be at that date the taxpayers may conclude not to have the carriage built.

POLITICAL POTPOURRI

What the Republicans Will Do To-Mor Committee on Arrangements-Democratic State Central Com-e-Odds and Ends.

The Democratic State Central Committee—Odds and Ends.

The delegates to the republican state convention began arriving last evening, and they are pretty numerous about the hotels this morning. There being no opposing candidates, except for the supreme judgeships, and the minds of everyone being pretty well made up and in unity on the subject of a platform, the convocation is more in the nature of a picnic than anything else. The candidates mentioned for the judgeships are Judge Edson, of Posey, in the first district; Judge Berkshire, of Jennings: Allison, of Jefferson; Marshall, of Jackson, and Adkinson, of Dearborn, in the second, and Judge Kibby, of Wayne. in the third it is likely that Judge Berkshire will receive the nomination for the second district. A Jefferson county delegate said this morning that Ju 1926 Allison was not in the field. The leaders of the party have thoroughly discussed the duty of the convention relative to the constitutional amendments, and a reporter of The News was informed by Judge Baldwin that the convention would declare squarely and unmistakeably in favor of submitting all the amendments at a special election and say nothing whatever about the me its of prohibition or other questions involved. He also sad a plank would would be inserted in the platform declaring for a tariff for revenue with protection to American industries and justifying the appointment of the tariff commission. There would also be a plank for the benefit of the 1 borer. The reporter heard a rumor that an effort would be made to get the convention to say something about prohibition, but no one could be found advocating such a policy. Judge Baldwin remarked, 'four can not cross a bridge till you get to it, and the republican party is therefore in favor of submission first; it will discuss the merits of prohibition afterward." This was the sentiment of everyone, apparently, and the convention to-morow will probably have an easy time of it. Capt. M. Hurley, of Floric county, said, however, "We don't propose to hav

A MEDICAL FIRE-BRAND. The Marion County "Regulars" File a Protest Against any "Short Horn" Convention with the American Health Association. sociation.

The Marion county medical society had a stormy session last night—i. e. stormy for outsiders. Following an address by Rev. George L. Curtiss, M. D., on "Air and its 'Impurities," the society proceeded to discuss the proper thing to do relative to the meeting of the American Public Health association, to be held in Indianapolis in October. The "regulars" felt that there had been a gross violation of the code of ethics by the mayor in the appointment of a there had been a gross violation of the code of ethics by the mayor in the appointment of a "short horn" upon the committee of arrangements, and the city court chamber resounded with shrieks of denunciation. Eventually their work took the following form, the resolution being adopted with but one dissenting vote: "Whereas, The appointments made by the municipal head of the city to represent medical interests at the meeting of the American Health Association, shortly to convene here, do, for the most part, so filly represent the learning, experience and professional standing of the medical profession here, and as such action is generally considered binding on account of its official source; therefore, "Resolved, That this society desires hereby to express its disapprobation of such action, and requests its members to abstain from any participation in the proceedings of such assemblages under present anspices, and we desire hereby to communicate the knowledge of our action to our medical brethren throughout the state."

hereby to communicate the knowledge of our action to our medical brethren throughout the state."

There was a minority effort against the passage of these uncalled for resolutions, and it was asserted that it was in bad taste and undignised for the society to issue its pronunclamento and refuse to participate in the deliberations: the coming convention when as yet the Marion county medical society had not been asked 'oo give dignity and weight to the American health association by its presence and counsel. The governor and mayor were defended by the statement that Dr. Runnell had been the only physician from this city who had taken the time and trouble to attend the meeting at Sayaunah lastyear, and that it was chiefly through his efforts that Indianapolis would be honored with its presence this year.

The member who dared thus to defend the officials for their recognition of a "short horn" was emphatically squenched by the fire caters, they leaving him in a louesome minority upon the vote being taken. It is asserted that there were many members who did not vote at all, who were really opposed to the resolution, but were afraid to buck against the old wheel horses of "regular" medical nonsense.

With all due deference to the geutlemen of the requirer school, when this resolution struck the public view to day there was a broad laugh. The idea was felt to be absurd. It was interpreted as a direct drive at Dr. M. T. Runnels, who is chairman of the committee of arrangements, and upon this geutleman a Newsreporter at once called Said the doctor: "Oh, I can't tak about that."

"But now about the head," was the sentsutious reply.

Then the reporter hunted up-Mayor Grubbs, and found that bits attention had already beaut

"But how about the health association" queried the reporter.
"The meeting will be held," was the sententious reply.

Then the reporter hunted up Mayor Grubbs, and found that his attention had already been directed to the flery resolution.

'How does it strike you?" was the first and only interrogatory propounded, to which the municipal head made reply as follows:
"The American Public Health Association is not a medical society. Its object, as I understand it, is to discuss sanitary measures, and to accrtain, as far as possible, what should be done to prevent diseases, not to cure them In this city there are but three gentleman who hold membership in the association, viz: Prof. J. M. Bloss, Thaodeus stephens, M. D. and Moses T. Runnels, M. D. The latter two gentlemen requested the appointment of a committee, and the names, as published, were furnished by them, and were, I think written by Dr. Stephens, who I believe is a member also of the Marion County Medical Society. The fact that two doctors of the same school should agree upon a matter of this kind is enoug to paralize an ordinary mortal but when two playicians of opposite schools agree upon any proposition, as they did in this case, the interests of peace forbid that any one else should object.

"Physicians have no more interest in the proceedings of the American public health association than have men of other trades and professions who feel an interest in as nectoore felt interest of peace forbid that any one else should object.

Mr. Caylor had absented himself a great deal

The Wabash Detectives.

The Wabash General Association of Detective companies began its annual session this morning, in the criminal court room, with closed doors. Col. John S. Gray, of Waynetown, is president; Archibald Johnson, Darlington, I. W. Voorhees, Lawrence, and P. M. Shuitz, Atwood, Ill., vice presidents, and J. H. Johnson, Bismsrck, secretary. Eighty-five companies, thirteen of them from Illinois, are represented by delegates, and there are sufficient applications to increase the representation to over one houdred. The session will continue throughout to morrow, and will embrace a public meeting this evening, at the court room, with an address by J. W. Gordon. The main object of the association is protection against horse thieves.

Col. Bickard W. Thompson arrived this morning direct from Washington, and in twenty minutes he was discussing "platform" with Postmaster Wildman, William Waliace and other republican headlights. The grand old man is looking in excellent health. The memory of man runneth not back to when he missed a republican state convention, save once when his dutiessas secretary of the navy kept him away A running interview with a News reporter elicits the information that the Panama canal is a b'coming reality, and the situation is very promising for a completion of the enire work in fix years. At present little is being done, as this is the rainy season at Panama. Cel Dick Thompson.

An Ohio paper reports the death, quite recently, at San Jose, Cal., of W. O. Hill, formerly a resident of this city. He was a brother of John and James Hill, and of Mrs. Calvin Fletcher, and he died at the advanced age of 70.

Mrs. Mriam Coffin, the venierable mother of David W. Coffin, and relict of Barney Coffin, died this morning at the residence ofher son, 410 North Pennsylvania street. She was born in 1812. 1812.
S. B. Wilson, an old citizen, residing at 591
Fast Washington street, died to-fay, aged 84, after a lingering illness.

The Artillery Company.

Twenty young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four, not less than five feet five inches nor more than six feet high, who can give one night a week for the study and drill of the artillery tactics, will be admitted to the company. These applicants should be intelligent, active and muscular, and a large proportion of them mechanics. Apply to Orderly Sergeant Harry Allen in person or by letter, or at the meeting of the company this evening, in an upper room of the Citizens' National Bank building.

John McMahan's Death.

The body of Conductor John McMahan arrived here at 4 o'clock this morning, from St. Louis, and was taken to his late home, 518 North New Jersey street. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock, from the amily residence, under the auspices of Raper ommandery. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat advances the theory that Mr. McMahau shot himself in a moment of chagrin on finding that he had overslept himself and had missed his train.

Knights and Ladies of Honor Knights and Ladies of Honor. The grand lodge Knights and Ladies of Honor assembled in annual session at 10 o'clock this morning, with Grand Protector C. W. Harvey, of Greensburg, in the chair. The credentials of about 150 representatives were preceived. The grand protector presented his annual report, showing an increase of about 709 in membership during the past year. The grand lodge will be in session to day and to morrow.

Postoffice Robbery.

The postoffice at Westfield was broken into last night and robbed of a quantity of stamps and some coin. Of the stamps taken, 4,00 were three cents, the balance 1's and 2's. Following the robbery the thief or thieves stole a horse and wagon, the property of Chesley Keats and Wm. Dumpfrey, which was driven to this city and abandoned near the old rolling mill, The horse was found by Officer Woodruff.

Another evidence of a growing business is shown in the removal by Chas. F. Meyer of his cigar and tobacco store to 15 and 17 North Pennsylvania street, two doors north of his old place. More room was required, and has been obtained in the present large and commodious quarters, handsomely pa-pered and refitted with new counters, etc., and affording ample space for the handling and display of goods. As Mr. Meyer has always had the deserved reputation of keeping the very best goods made in his line, no improvement will be made over the stock kept at the old place, only to make a better display of it.

oil painting that can be executed by any artist, and not an operator will be in this city who will discuss this opinion. I venture to say, too, that who can not take the best picture ever produced, and if you don't believe this, you just put any that is par excellent in reach of any one of The poorest artist will take as good a picture as the best man in the game. Yes, my friends, it would be the poorest operator who would be most apt to take the best picture and carry it home and tell his patrons he took that photo in Indianapolis, and so much better than he could do at home, as we had handsome ladies, healthy air, and clear, pure city water. To facilitate the operation, he tried to take the clothing house of J. A. McKenzie, but made a total failure of it.
